Iris – The Ideal Perennial – Planting

IRIS are easy to plant, easy to grow, hardy, dependable, disease resistant, almost pest free, excellent for cutting, unmatched for bouquets and artistic color arrangements, blooms faithfully, thrives and lives a lifetime with a minimum of care, will do well in most any sunny, well drained spot. The roots should be spread and planted deeply and the rhizome itself should be planted about one-half inch below the surface of the soil. The soil should be kept moist until the plant is well established, then will withstand drought and neglect, but respond bountifully to proper care and culture. Bone meal may be worked into the soil before planting or used as a side dressing once a year. Since iris multiply rapidly, planting should be spaced from 12 to 18 inches apart to allow for proper ventilation. It is best to divide them about every three years. They provide amazing colors in beautiful tints, tones, shades and combinations at prices to fit any budget. Try them and see.

INTRODUCTIONS

BELLAMERE (Mrs. Philip Paquet (Nancy), McLeansville, N.C.) Early to midseason. 35" (Snow Flurry X Golden Eagle) This is a lovely Mauvette blending out into a narrow edge of Heliotrope, with a bright yellow beard. The standards are closed, the falls flare, and the whole flower is nicely ruffled. This is a real husky grower and increases fast. H.C. '56

GAY NINETIES (Mrs. L.J. Lohman (Kathryne), Fallbrook, Calif.) Midseason. 34" (Contra Costa x Red Scarf X Love Affair x Royal Scot) A "HORNED IRIS". It is a yellow ground plicata, the standards almost completely covered with garnet red lines and stipples. The falls have a heavy lined border with dots toward the center of the fall which has a lilac flush around the yellow beard. The horns extend 3/4" out and upward from the end of the beard. Some flowers have beard superimposed on the horn. The entire flower is very ruffled and fragrant. The stems are nicely branched, no crowding or bunching. The horn occasionally forms a decorative spoon at the end and sometimes curves up like a handle-bar mustache, hence the name. A really "Horned" iris at a moderate price that anyone can afford.
